教學目標與內容	This reading course is designed for intermediate beginning English as a Foreign Language students who can develop their reading ability both individually and in panel discussion. The course is versatile. It can help students develop their grammar structure and vocabulary; it can also provide guidance and practice in reading skill. Students spend time reading, not just doing exercises about reading. The course is conducive to individual, pair, and group work. Those articles can be used complementarily with other single-skill handouts or as a reading supplement to multi-skill textbooks. Those activities inside the textbook also provide opportunities to incorporate listening, speaking, and writing into the classroom, allowing for a whole language approach using reading as the pivot.
